MANAGER GENE MAUCH

A fiery spirit . . . an uncanny awareness of the intricacies that baseball holds . . . a man who lives by two words—"advantage" and "guts" . . . that's Gene Mauch, the strategist and fighter who has brought the Phillies into their current position among the league's top pennant contenders.

The Phillies began counting on Gene Mauch in April of 1960, when General Manager, John Quinn, offered him a managerial ticket with a chance. Mauch had been an active professional player for sixteen years, and as player-manager, he guided the '53 Atlanta Club to third place in the Southern Association. His '58 and '59 Minneapolis teams finished third and second, respectively. The stalled Phillies were his in 1960 . . . so was eighth place . . . but better days were coming.

1961 saw the Phillies looking up from last place once again . . . but, through John Quinn's masterful wheeling and dealing and Mgr. Mauch's firm, guiding hand, the Phillies began to stir.

The "big countdown" began in 1962, as the resurgent Phillies pried open the cellar door and landed in 7th place. National League "Manager of the Year"—Gene Mauch!

1963 saw the Phillies vault into the daylight of the first division (4th place) for the first time since 1955.

On the move again in '64, in one of the most incredible pennant races in the history of the National League, "Manager of the Year" Mauch (Associated Press) led his Phillies to a heart-breaking second place finish—just one game behind the St. Louis Cardinals—and the flag!

Although disappointed by last year's sixth place finish, the Phillies' 85-76 record gave Mauch the honor of becoming the first Phillies manager to chalk up four consecutive winning seasons. (The Phillies' 5-0 victory over Houston on June 13, 1965 was Mauch's 393rd win as Phillies helmsman—tops among modern Phillies managers and second only to Harry Wright, 1884-1892, who won 678 games.)

Last year's All-Star classic also had the benefit of Mauchian strategy, as Gene guided a powerful National League team to a win that gave them an 18-17 edge in All-Star competition.

Going into the 1966 pennant race with 449 Phillies victories behind him, Gene Mauch is shooting for one win, and one win only—the win that clinches the race and brings a long awaited flag to Philadelphia.

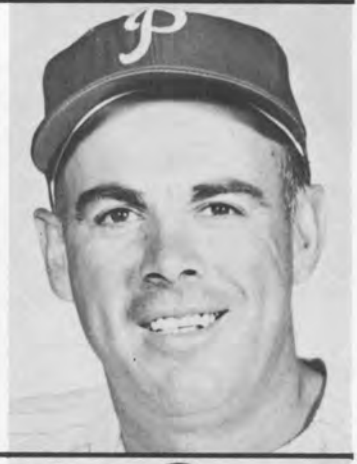
GEORGE MYATT

Fifty-year-old Infield Coach Myatt is the "senior member" of the Phillies coaching staff, in this, his third year with the club. More than 30 active years of baseball know-how are tucked under his cap—16 years as a player with teams that include the Giants and Senators . . . 15 as coach (Senators, White Sox, Clubs, Braves and Tigers). It's no surprise that George has helped immensely in bringing "spit and polish" to Phillies infield play. When the Phils are batting, it's (#1) who calls the shots from the 3rd base coaching box.

PEANUTS LOWREY

Peppery "Peanuts," a Phillies outfielder in '55, joined Gene Mauch's "brain trust" in June of 1960. Behind him glistened 23 years of professional playing experience and 3 years of managerial work. His major league credits include outfield action with the Cubs ('42-'49) and Cards ('51-'54). In the '45 Series, Peanuts went 9 for 29 at the plate, in a losing Cubs' effort. In '46, he was named to the N.L. All-Star team. When he's not instructing the rookies in the intricacies of getting on base, (#3) doubles as Phillies 1b coach.



CAL McLISH

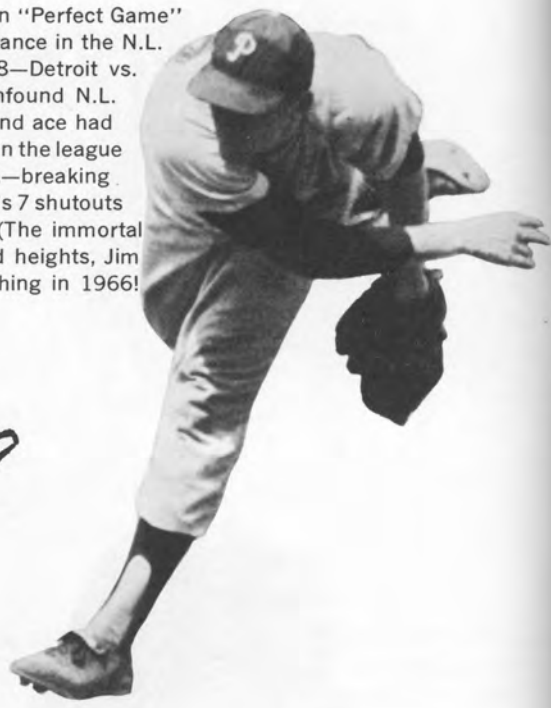
At 40, Cal still exhibits the enthusiasm of a rookie, as he works to sharpen the control of the young Phillies hurlers. Hampered by a shoulder injury in 1964, Cal left the active roster to serve as the Phillies Minor League Pitching Instructor. Named Phillies Pitching Coach in December of '64, Cal's since been putting his 21 years of professional pitching experience (Brooklyn, Pirates, Cubs, Reds, Indians, White Sox, Phillies) to good use, preparing young Phillies moundsmen for the hot N.L. wars.

BOB OLDIS

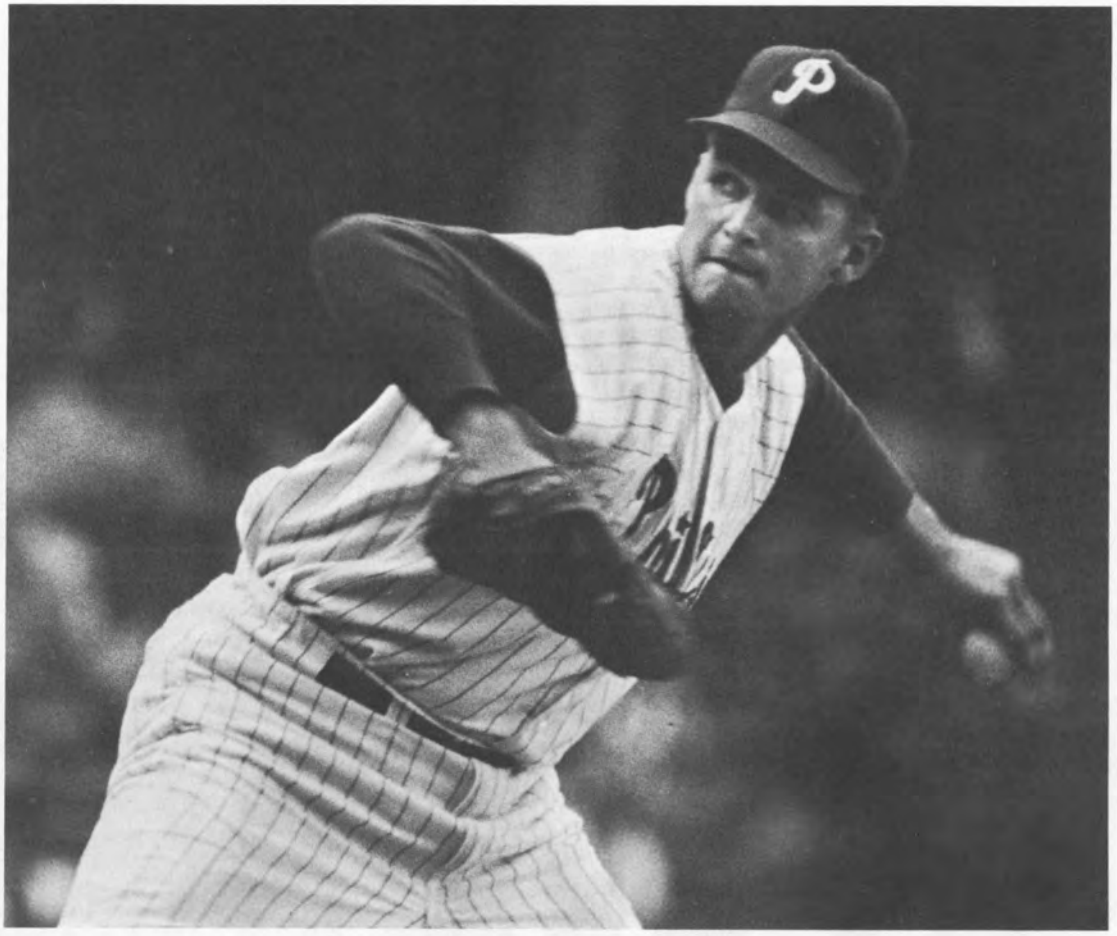
The "Lieutenant of the Bullpen," that's #5, Bob Oldis. Known as "an alert baseball addict," Bob joined the Phillies as a backstop in October of '61, and saw limited action during the '62 and '63 campaigns. Prior to joining the Phils, he had played with such clubs as the Pirates ('60-'61) and the Senators ('51-'55). In his third year as Phillies Bullpen Coach, Bob's duties range from warming up pitchers to waving a towel if a Phillies' fly looks like it's going to hit the wall.

JIM BUNNING

While baseball fans from coast to coast still marvel at Jim's Herculean "Perfect Game" against the Mets (June 21, 1964)—the first perfect pitching performance in the N.L. since 1880 and his second no-hitter in the majors (July 20, 1958—Detroit vs. Boston), Jim's blazing fast ball and wicked slider continued to confound N.L. hitters throughout 1965. By the end of the season, the Phillies mound ace had chalked up 19 wins against 9 defeats . . . a 2.60 E.R.A. (one of the best in the league and the lowest in his entire major league career) . . . and 268 S.O.—breaking Grover Cleveland Alexander's S.O. record of 241, set in 1915. Bunning's 7 shutouts were also the most hurled by a Phillies pitcher in nearly 50 years! (The immortal Alexander threw 8 in 1917.) Ready to achieve even greater mound heights, Jim Bunning's another big reason why the Phillies definitely bear watching in 1966!

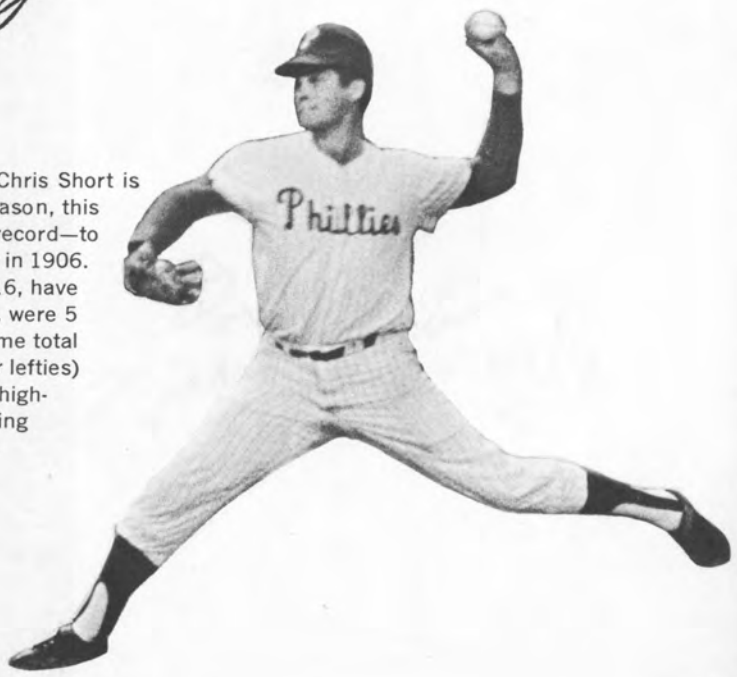


Jim Bunning

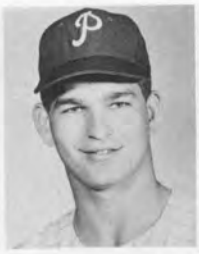


Chris Short

When the subject turns to left-handed pitching greats, experts agree—Chris Short is one of the toughest southpaws in the business. And no wonder . . . Last season, this blossoming star from the Eastern Shore hummed his way to an 18-11 record—to become the first Phillies port-side hurler to win 18 games since John Lush in 1906. (Only "Jumbo" Jim Elliott (19-14) in 1931, and Eppa Rixey (22-10) in 1916, have more wins among Phillies LHP.) Among Chris' most notable 1965 efforts, were 5 shutouts (one shy of Curt Simmons' 1952 LHP record), bringing his lifetime total in this category to 12 . . . a 2.82 E.R.A. . . . 237 S.O. (a new club high for lefties) and 297 I.P. (second only to Koufax among left-handed pitchers and 4th highest in the majors). Add Chris' acknowledged ability as one of the best fielding pitchers in the majors (1 error since August of '62) plus his 15-5 lifetime mark against the World Champion Dodgers, and it's easy to see why an on-target Chris Short could mean the bullseye for the 1966 Phillies.



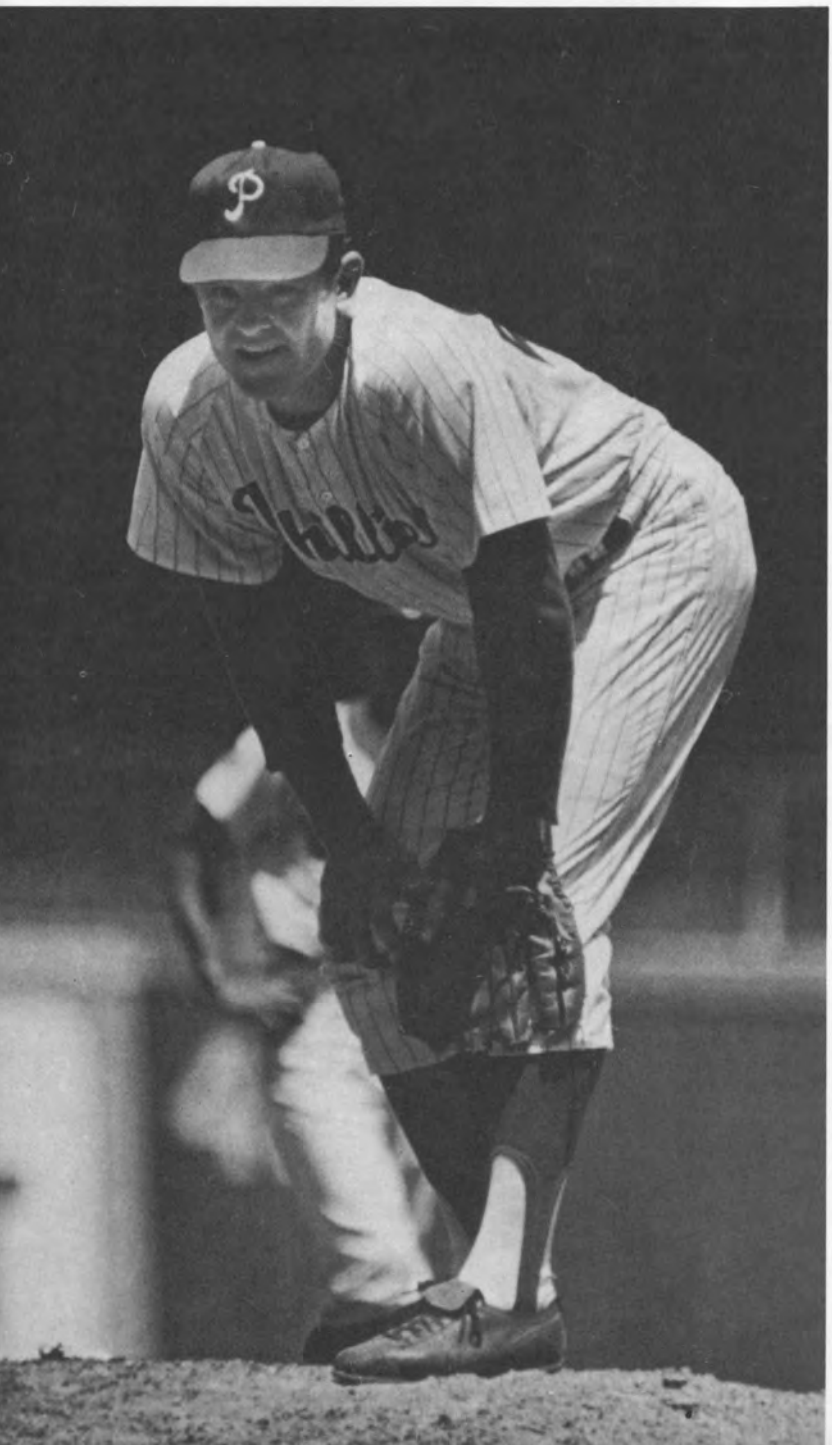
RAY CULP



Showing the form that won him N.L. "Rookie Pitcher of the Year" honors in 1963, Ray logged a 14-10 mark last season — setting new personal highs in CG (11) and I.P. (204). In the S.O. department, Ray's "hummer" toppled 134 batters (10 or more per game on 4 big occasions). With more big games like his 4-scoreless-inning relief stint vs. the Cards on May 18 (5 S.O. for good measure) and his 3-hit performance (in 7 innings) vs. the Giants on May 28, Ray Culp means still another strong Phillies threat as the '66 pennant race continues to boil.

Ray Culp

John Quinn wanted Jackson. John Quinn got Jackson. Then - - - wow! Brought to the Phillies from the Cubs early in the '66 campaign, Larry jumped right into the thick of things. On May 23, it was a Jackson 3-hitter combined with hot Phillies' bats that sent the Astros down to defeat 9-0. Taking his turn four days later, this 6'2" righty shrunk the Giants with his curve and slider. Final score 9-2—Jackson's second straight win . . . and second complete game. Injured on May 29, Larry spent some time on the disabled list, itching to get back into action—and, no doubt, looking forward to a season with the Phils comparable to his '64 performance for the 8th place Cubs. (Larry was 24-11 that year—top winner among all major league hurlers.) A 4-time All-Star contender, he also has quite a reputation in New York and Houston. Lifetime, Larry's 14-0 vs. the Mets—and 14-4 vs. the Astros.



Larry Jackson

BOB BUHL

Bob came to the Phillies from the Cubs, in a John Quinn maneuver to add extra muscle to the Phillies mound staff. A 14-season veteran of the N. L., this big right-hander broke into the majors in 1953 with the Braves. In 1957, he earned his gold spurs as a key member of the Milwaukee pennant-winners—pitching himself to an 18-7 record with an E. R. A. of 2.74. A consistent winner with the Cubs over the past two seasons (15-14 in '64 . . . 13-11 in '65), Bob chalked up his first Phillies win on June 1—against the same Cubs with whom he had played since 1962. Remembering his old teammates well, Bob pitched 5 brilliant relief innings—allowing only 3 hits, while striking out 2 and walking none.

On Wednesday, June 1, word went out: "Wise is back." And on June 2, this 20-year-old fireballer showed he's determined to stay, as he poured it on against the Cubs—striking out 5 while walking none in the 5.2 innings in which he worked. On Monday, June 6, the Giants fell victim to the "Wise touch". Rick went the distance for the first time in his young major league career—this time with 8 strike-outs, in the Phillies 6-2 win over the Musclemen. In 1964, rookie Rick was 5-3 for the 2nd place Phils, moving on to Little Rock last season to post an 8-6 mark. This year, Rick and his "smoker" were 3-1 at San Diego—before the call that brought him back to Philadelphia . . . and the blistering N.L. wars.

Rick Wise

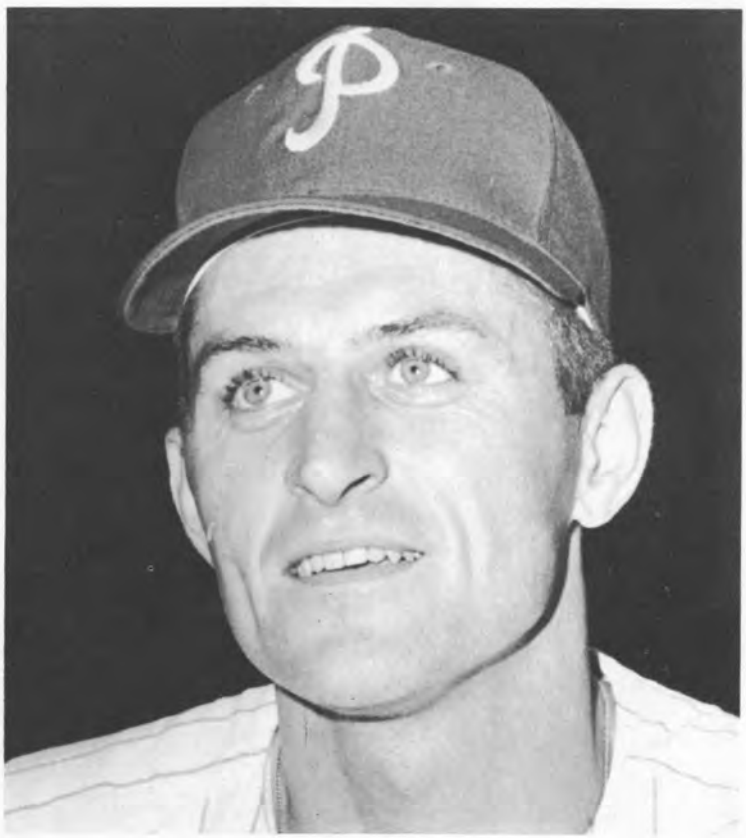
DAROLD KNOWLES

Eager to "make it big" with the Phillies, this 24-year-old left-handed fireballer was acquired from the Baltimore Orioles on December 6, 1965 (along with Jack Brandt) in a trade for Jack Baldschun. While tuning up in the minors, Darold fanned 799 batters in 852 I.P.—resulting in his being named to 3 All-Star teams. In a brief stint with the Orioles last season, he showed he's got the makings—as he struck out 12 A.L. batters in 15 innings. With Rochester, later in '65, Darold won 11 and lost only 5, while compiling an E.R.A. of 2.53—3rd lowest in the entire International League.

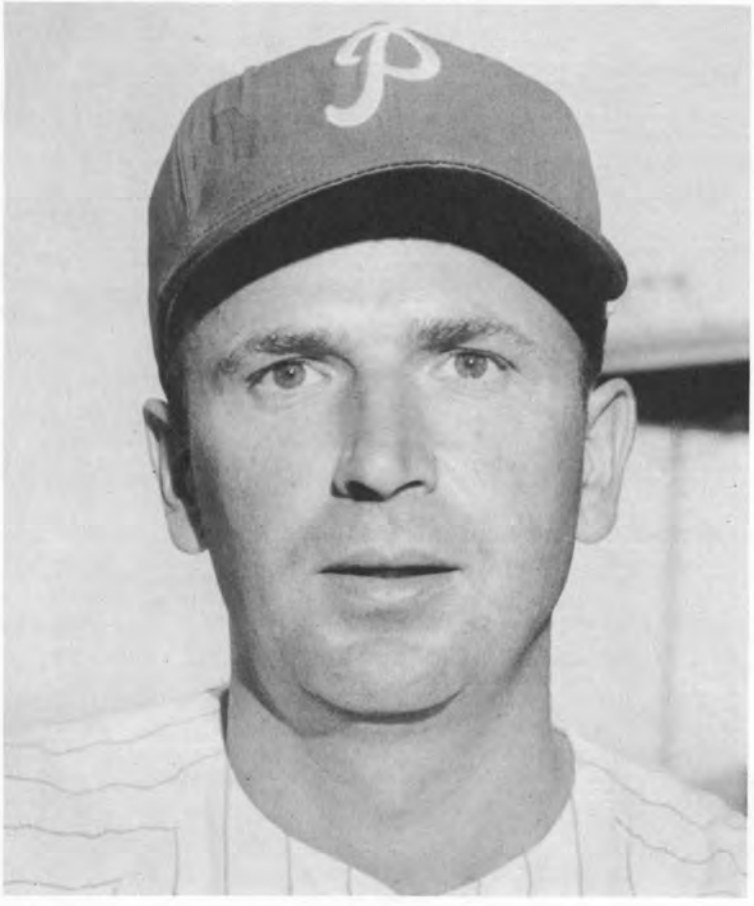
Darold Knowles

Now in his 13th year in the majors, this ex-American-Leaguer (brought over by the Phillies from the White Sox in a deal for Danny Cater, late in Nov. '64), exhibited his strike-throwing mastery to best advantage during 1965. Most memorable was his 4-0 shutout of the World Champion L. A. Dodgers on June 10 —a feat that was accomplished on only 94 pitches. It was Ray's second win of the season over L.A. and his 100th major league victory. Over the years, Ray's greatest moments have included 20 wins in '62 and 7 shutouts in '63 (to top the A.L.). Although he went only 5-8 for the Phillies last year, his 19 walks in 131 I.P. gave every evidence that Ray's got the sharp control to increase the Phillies hopes for a flag in Philadelphia.

Terry was purchased from the Detroit Tigers early in May—to strengthen the Phillies bullpen brigade and their chances for that high October finish. Last season, this hard-throwing righty had the distinction of being Detroit's leading fireman—with 6 wins and 8 saves in 42 relief appearances (unscored on 24 times). In his 5 seasons with Detroit, Terry, who's considered to have one of the best pick-off moves among major league right-handers, logged 26 wins and 47 saves. With nearly a dozen flame quenching appearances to his credit through early June, it looks like this ex-Tiger has taken a big liking to his new set of Phillies candy stripes.

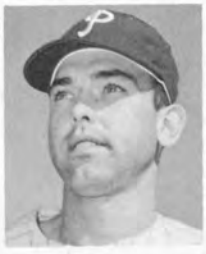


A late Spring Training addition to the Phillies bullpen, this lanky 6-footer brings nearly a dozen years of tough N. L. hurling experience to the Phillies pitching staff. (Roger was with the Dodgers—1955 through 1961; Mets—1962 and '63; Cardinals—1964; and Reds—1965.) Finding his new Phillies home much to his liking, Roger was credited with 2 of the first three '66 Phillies wins. On April 13, 1.1 relief innings stumped the Cardinals, as the Phillies scored a 3-2 win in 12 innings at St. Louis. Just two days later, the big North Carolina hurler was called on once again, for 2 important innings in relief—this time against Cincinnati. Final score: Phillies 4—Reds 3. Eager to be called on in those strategic spots, Roger should provide many a bright moment for the Phillies throughout 1966.



When Phillies opponents' hot bats need cooling (usually, in a big hurry), "sinker-ball" artist, Ed Roebuck, is a mighty valuable man to have around. Ed first came to the Phillies in April of '64, in a Quinn/Mauch maneuver to add strength to the bullpen brigade. Playing a key role in the Phillies bid for the flag, he chalked up 10 (often spectacular) saves and an E. R. A. of 2.22 (the lowest of his 16-year-career). In 1965, Ed was 5-3 for the Phils—throwing nothing but those ground balls that brought him fame throughout his many years with the Dodgers. Summoned from San Diego in June of this year, Ed and his newly found knuckler should prove a big asset, as the Phils drive for October glory.

In November of 1959, the Phillies drafted Clay Dalrymple—ex-heavyweight boxing champ from Chico State College . . . Texas League All-Star backstop in 1957. Now in his seventh year with the Phillies, Clay is known 'round the circuit as one of the best defensive receivers (and game callers) in the business. Following last season's N.L. scramble, Clay's 10 D.P.'s ranked 2nd in the league among catchers. In assists (68), Clay placed first (for the second time in his career), sharing the honors with Mets' catcher Chris Cannizzaro. At the plate last season, Clay set a new personal high in triples (5) and poled out 4 homers—two of them, game-winning blasts for the Phillies.

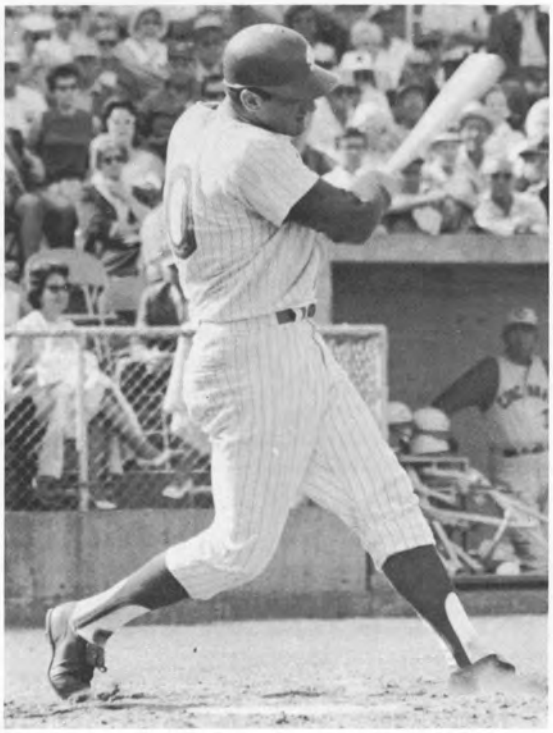


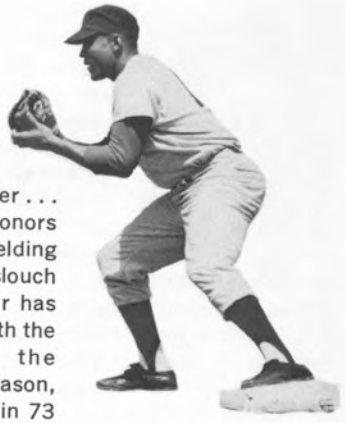
Clay Dalrymple

BOB UECKER

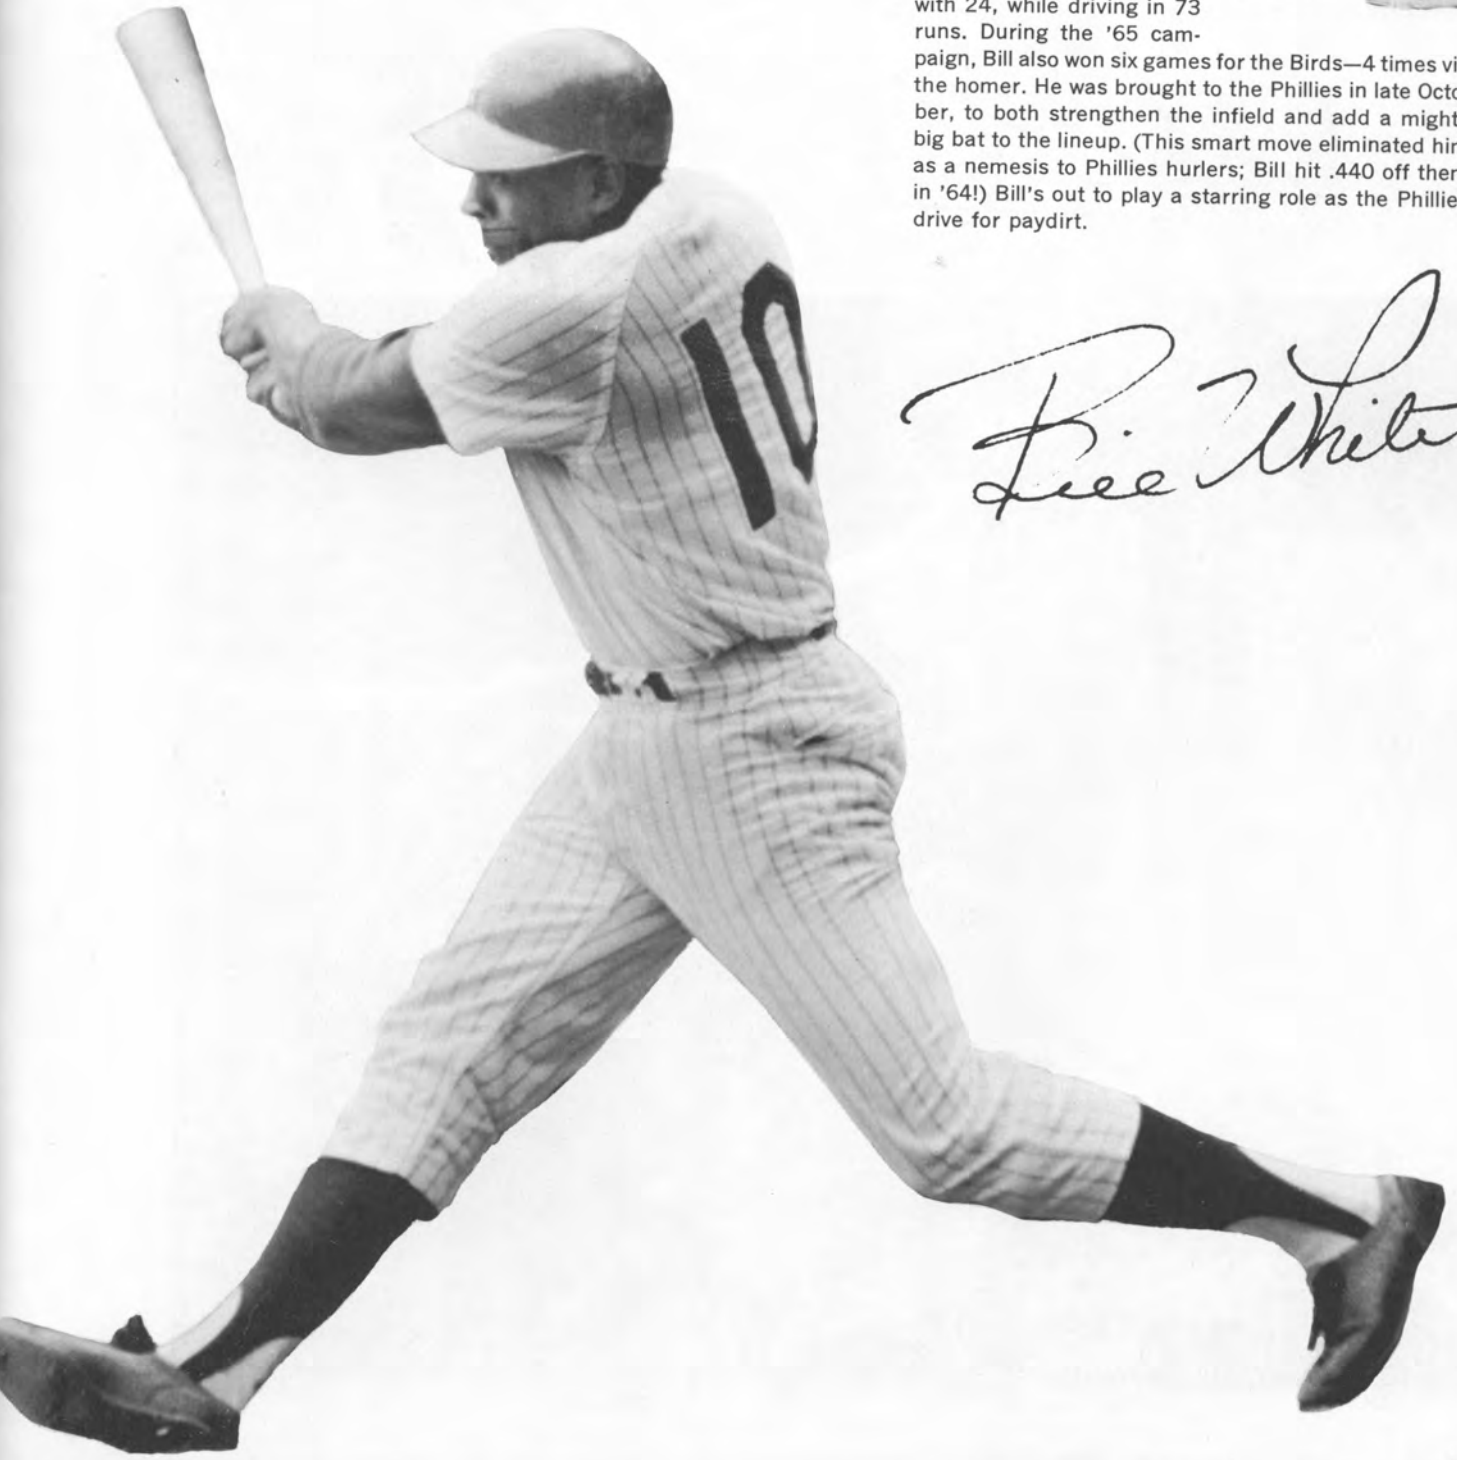
No newcomer to fiery National League action, Bob was acquired by the Phillies in the October '65 trade that sent Art Mahaffey, Alex Johnson and Pat Corrales to the Cardinals. Known as a "pressure ballplayer", who's also mighty good with a catcher's mitt, this 6'1"—190 pounder was originally signed to a Braves contract by John Ogden—who, as a Phillies Scout, discovered Rich Allen, not too many years ago. Before coming to the majors, Bob led American Association catchers in fielding (.988) and was named the league's All-Star catcher for 1961. Sharing the shinguards with Clay Dalrymple this season, Bob's a welcome new asset who should help immensely as the N.L. pennant race thickens.

Bob Uecker





When talk turns to contemporary greats of the game, Bill White often becomes the topic of conversation. At 32, the big lefty is regarded as baseball's finest all-around first-sacker . . . and for good reason. Bill has won Gold Glove honors for 6 straight seasons—setting many league fielding records for first baseman, along the way. No slouch with a bat, this 3-time National League All-star has batted over .300 in four of his seven seasons with the Redbirds—leading the Cards in H. R. last season, with 24, while driving in 73 runs. During the '65 campaign, Bill also won six games for the Birds—4 times via the homer. He was brought to the Phillies in late October, to both strengthen the infield and add a mighty big bat to the lineup. (This smart move eliminated him as a nemesis to Phillies hurlers; Bill hit .440 off them in '64!) Bill's out to play a starring role as the Phillies drive for paydirt.

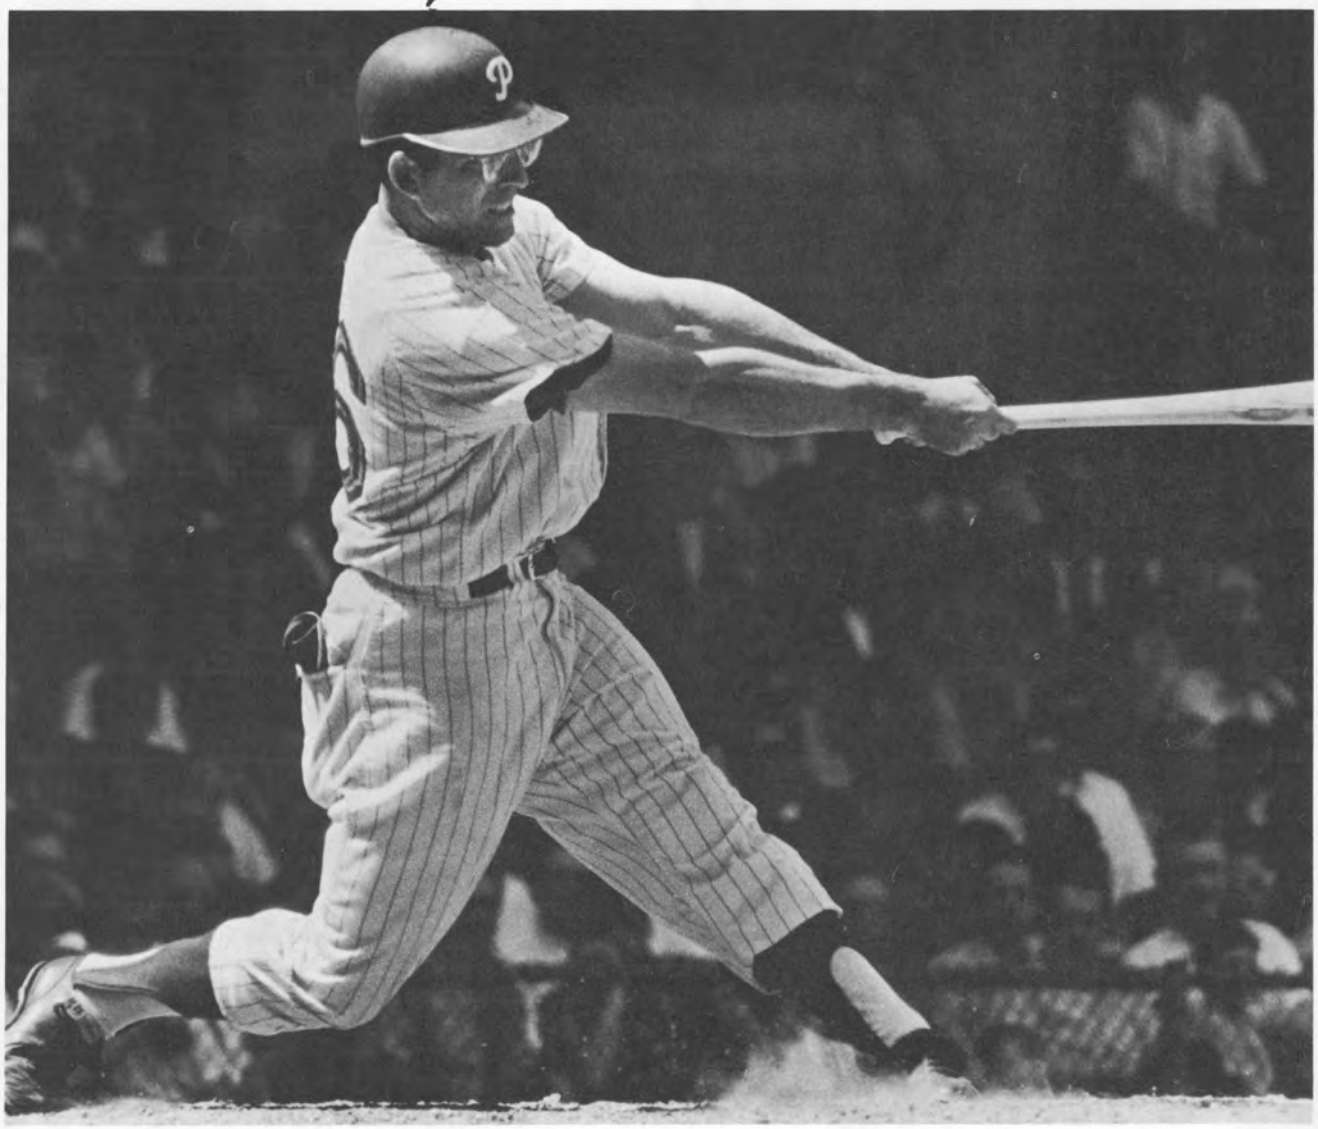


Bill White

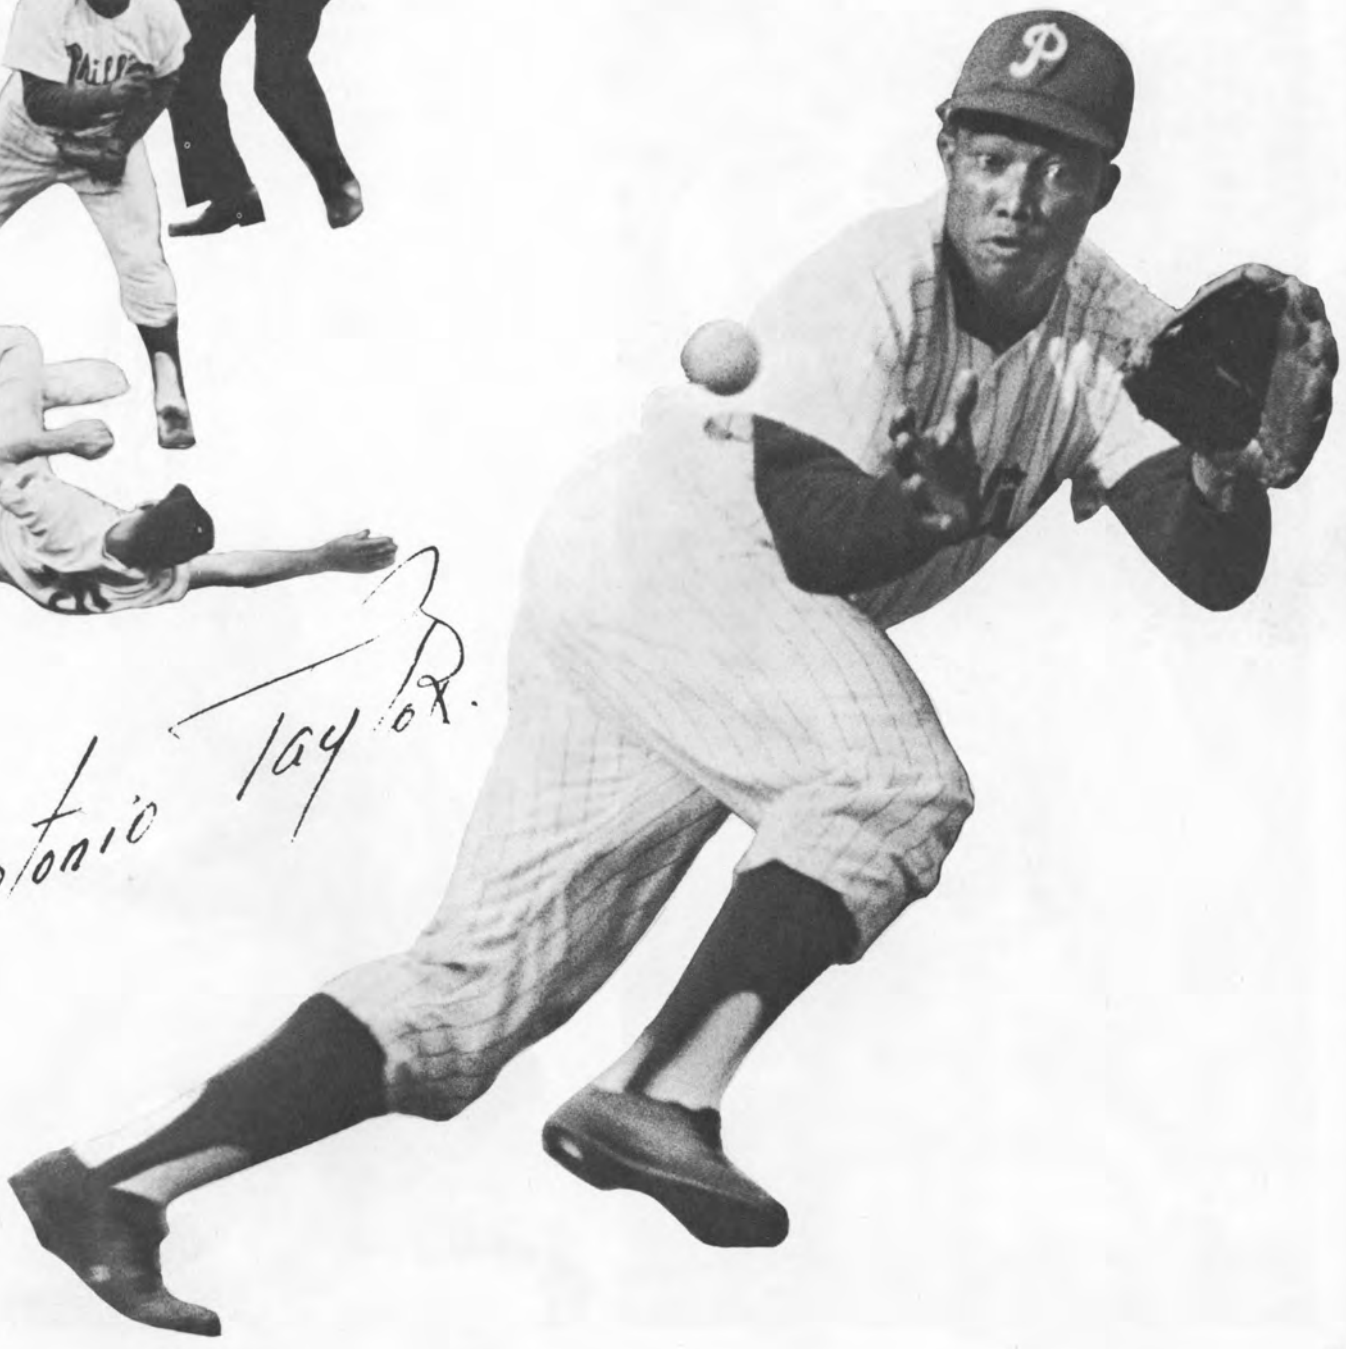
COOKIE ROJAS

Throughout 1965, one big question always seemed to be cropping up whenever Phillies fans got together. "What makes Rojas run . . . field . . . hit the way he does?" Answer: desire . . . and a mighty generous amount of baseball talent. Last year, Cookie put on quite a show, as he led the Phillies in hitting (his .303 B. A. was 8th in the N. L.) . . . set new personal highs in G (142); A. B. (521); R (78); H (158); 2b (25); H. R. (3); R. B. I. (42); B. B. (42) and S. O. (33); placed second (to Bill Mazeroski) in fielding among the league's second basemen . . . and put his sure-handed fielding talents on display all over the field. (Cookie played 1 game at 1b . . . 84 at 2b . . . 11 at S.S. . . . 55 in the outfield . . . and 2 behind the plate!) Tagged "The Phillies Surprise Package" in 1964 and "Rojas the Magnificent" in 1965, Cookie's out to stir up even more trouble for Phillies opponents (while living up to his new handle) in 1966.

Cookie Rojas

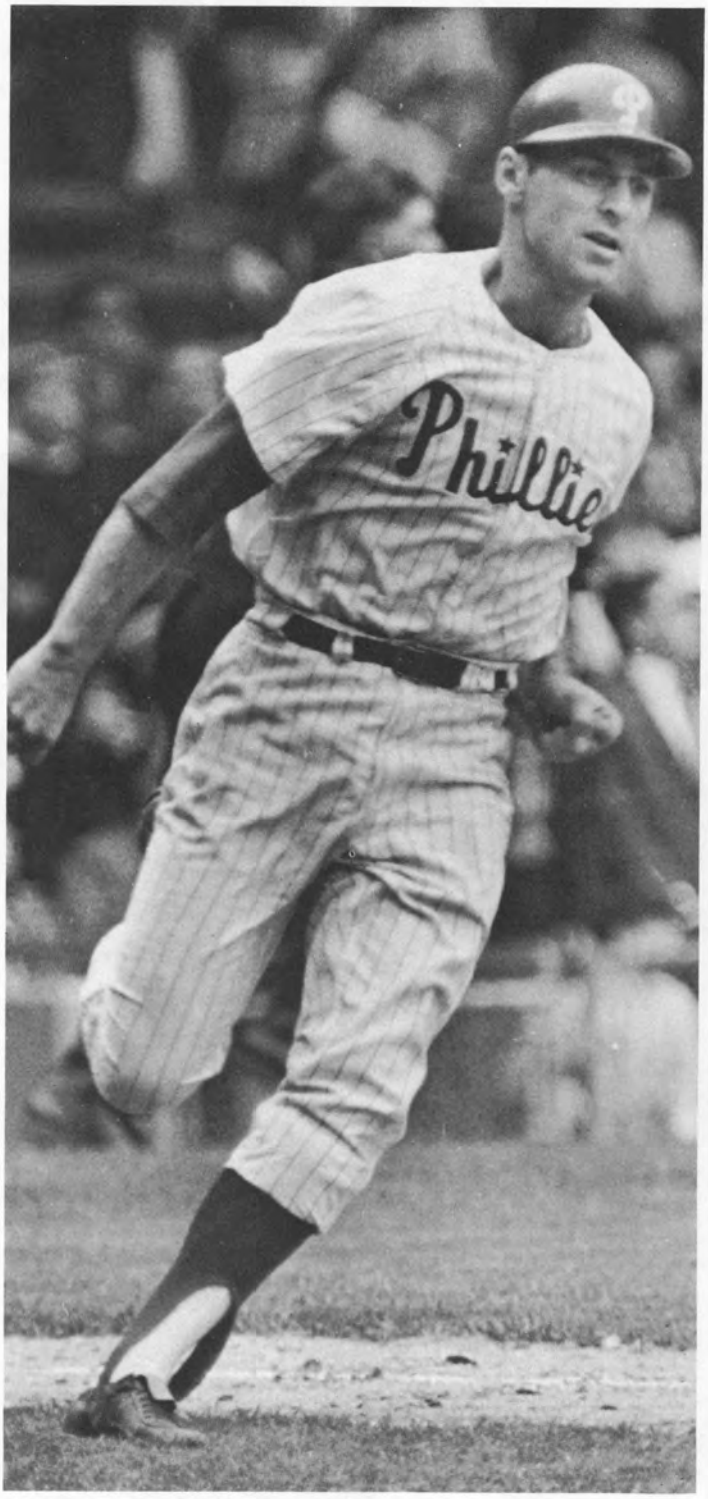


Now in his 9th year in the majors (and 7th with the Phillies), Tony's shooting to better the sagging .229 B. A. that came his way last season. (His career average in the major is better than 30 points higher.) Just plain "murder" around 2b (with coverage that often confuses the official scorer—when he has to decide what position Tony's playing), Tony did have his moments with the stick last season. Like, on May 17th. It was Tony's 8th inning homer that gave the Phillies a 2-1 decision over the Cardinals . . . and Bo Belinsky his first Phillies win. Looking for another year like 1963, when he led the Phillies in total hits (180) and runs scored (102)—with 49 R. B. I.'s and a .281 B. A., Tony Taylor should help to improve the '66 Phillies chances for a high finish.



DICK GROAT

Dick is one of the few players ever to step out of college right into the big leagues. An All-American cager at Duke University (1,783 pts. in 77 games), this all-around athlete was signed by the Pirates in 1952. As shortstop for the Buccos, he landed National League MVP honors, as well as the batting crown, for his sparkling all-around play and .325 B. A. during the 1960 season. Named to N. L. All-Star teams 5 times, Dick also had the distinction of leading the league's shortstops in D. P.'s during 5 different seasons—to tie the major league record in this department. Acquired by the Phillies from St. Louis in October of '65 (Dick went to the Cards in '63), this powerful six-footer hopes to play an important role in the '66 Phillies bid for glory.



Dick Groat

After a slow start last season (due to a back injury), Bobby's magic glove and shotgun arm once again sparked Phillies infield pyrotechnics—in 135 games at SS and 4 at 1b. Bobby broke into pro ball in the Appalachian League in 1957. His sure-handed ability was recognized almost immediately, and he was named to the All-Star lineup. In 1958, Bobby was with Bakersfield, and this time, a member of the California League All-Stars. A Gold Glove winner in 1963, Bobby's now in his fifth season with the Phillies . . . a season in which he'll, no doubt, concentrate on bringing his stick-work up to the .300 average he maintained last August.

Bobby Wine

RICH ALLEN

"Sophomore jinx?" Rich Allen never heard of it! Coming off a 1964 rookie year that proved him to be the greatest freshman hitter in Phillies history (.318 B. A., 29 homers, 13 triples, 38 doubles, 201 hits and 91 R. B. I.'s), as well as the National League's "Rookie of the Year" and MVP contender, Rich continued his bid for super-stardom in 1965. While his bat again told the big story (.302 B. A., 20 homers, 14 triples, 31 doubles, 187 singles and 85 R. B. I.'s), Rich's glove work around 3rd base also drew many plaudits. By the end of the season, Rich led thirdbasemen in DP with 29 . . . running second only to Ron Santo in assists and total chances. To name just a few Allen accomplishments last season: Rich was starting thirdbaseman for the N. L. in the All-Star Game; the first major leaguer to reach the 100-hit plateau in 1965; in the top 10 in the N. L. batting race; and 7-time Phillies batting hero (3 via the homer). What about 1966? Well, Rich is mighty happy just settling down to continue the meteoric rise that's bound to be a big factor in the '66 Phillies' future.

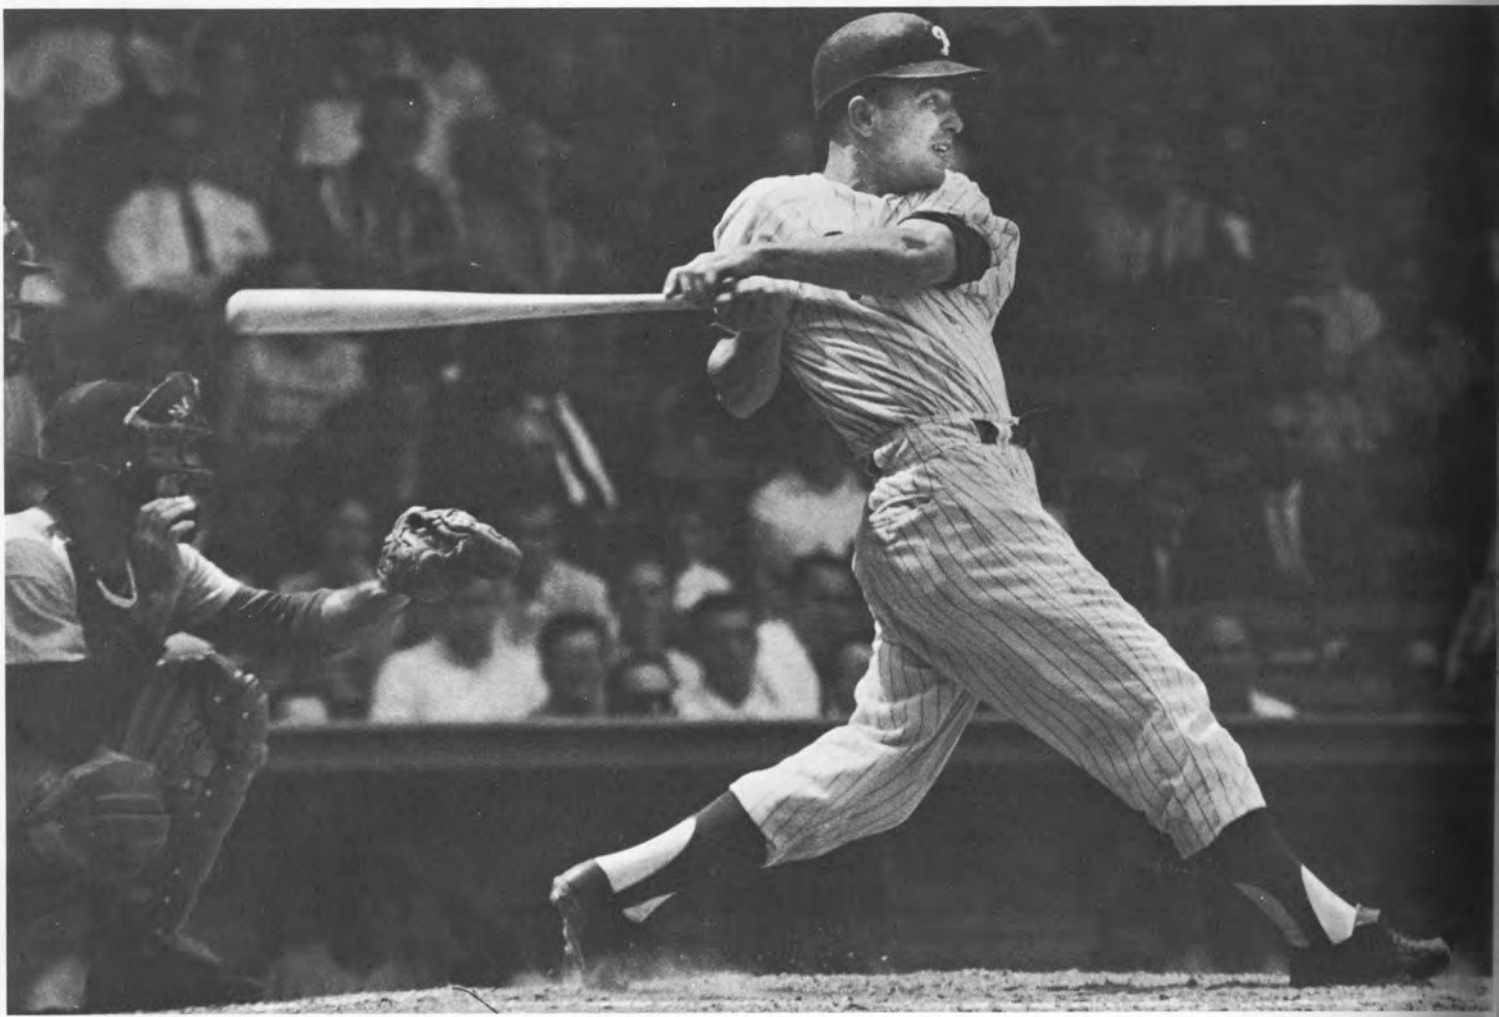
Whether he's referred to as the "super sub", "Harmonicat" or just plain Phil, this 26-year-old Baltimorean has earned himself a reputation as an intense competitor, in his 4 years with the Yankees. Coming to the Phillies via a December trade with the Yanks (for Ruben Amaro), Phil brings with him a flashy glove and an often impressive bat. With the Yankees last season, he appeared once at 2b . . . 71 times as SS . . . 4 at 3rd . . . and 4 in the outfield. (Shades of Cookie Rojas!) Two-time minor league batting champion (1960 Carolina League, .321 . . . 1961 Texas League, .349), as well as top Yankee pinch hitter in his rookie year (1962), with a .467 pinch hit average, Phil's ready to step in and fight anytime.

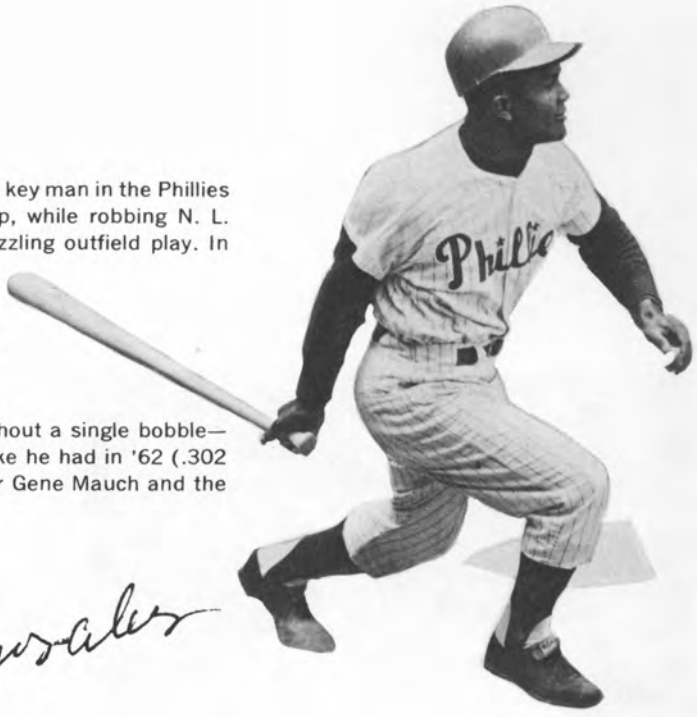
Phil Linz

JOHNNY CALLISON

Now in his sixth year of Phillies stardom, John, in the opinion of sharp critics, is well on his way to becoming one of baseball's all-time greats. Known to his team mates (and opponents alike) as a true "ballplayer's ballplayer", John drove in winning Phillies tallies 11 times last season (3rd highest in the majors)—6 times via the home run. 1965 also saw John's big bat blast 32 homers, while accounting for 101 R. B. I.'s —both club highs for the season. While his 16 triples (one short of a Phillies club record) topped the National League, John hugged the leaders in total bases (4th) and slugging percentage (9th). A demon on defense, Callison also led all N. L. outfielders in assists, with 21—making him the first player in major league history to lead his league's outfielders in this department for 4 consecutive years! Going "full tilt" once again, John should provide many a thrilling moment for Phillies fans—as he sparks the well-oiled Mauchmen to even greater heights.

Johnny Callison





During 1965, Tony again proved himself a key man in the Phillies lineup—peppering out hits at a .295 clip, while robbing N. L. batters of extra bases with his often dazzling outfield play. In 108 games, "Little Dynamite" (a name Tony's often called by his team mates) committed only 3 miscues—just 2 more than he made in 1964 when he led all N. L. outfielders in fielding—with only 1 error in 248 chances. (He also holds the major league record for playing 205 games in the outfield without a single bobble—August 21, 1961 to June 26, 1963.) Out for another season like he had in '62 (.302 B. A.—20 H. R.), Tony makes the picture look even brighter for Gene Mauch and the battling '66 Phillies.

Tony Gonzalez

JACK BRANDT

A seasoned veteran of many major league campaigns, Jack came to the Phillies in the December '65 trade that sent Jack Baldschun to the Baltimore Orioles. In 1955, this free-swinging right-hander took International League MVP honors . . . and was tagged a potential "super-star" by the experts. With the Cardinals and Giants in 1956, Jack hit .298 with 50 R. B. I.'s thrown in for good measure. A Gold Glove winner in 1958—for his outstanding defensive work in the Giants' outfield, Jack joined the Orioles in 1960. And it was with these same Orioles (in 1961) that he turned in his best major league performance to date—a .297 B. A. with 71 R. B. I.'s. Out to better this mark, while bringing added depth to the Phillies outfield, Jack's a welcome addition to the star-studded '66 Phillies.

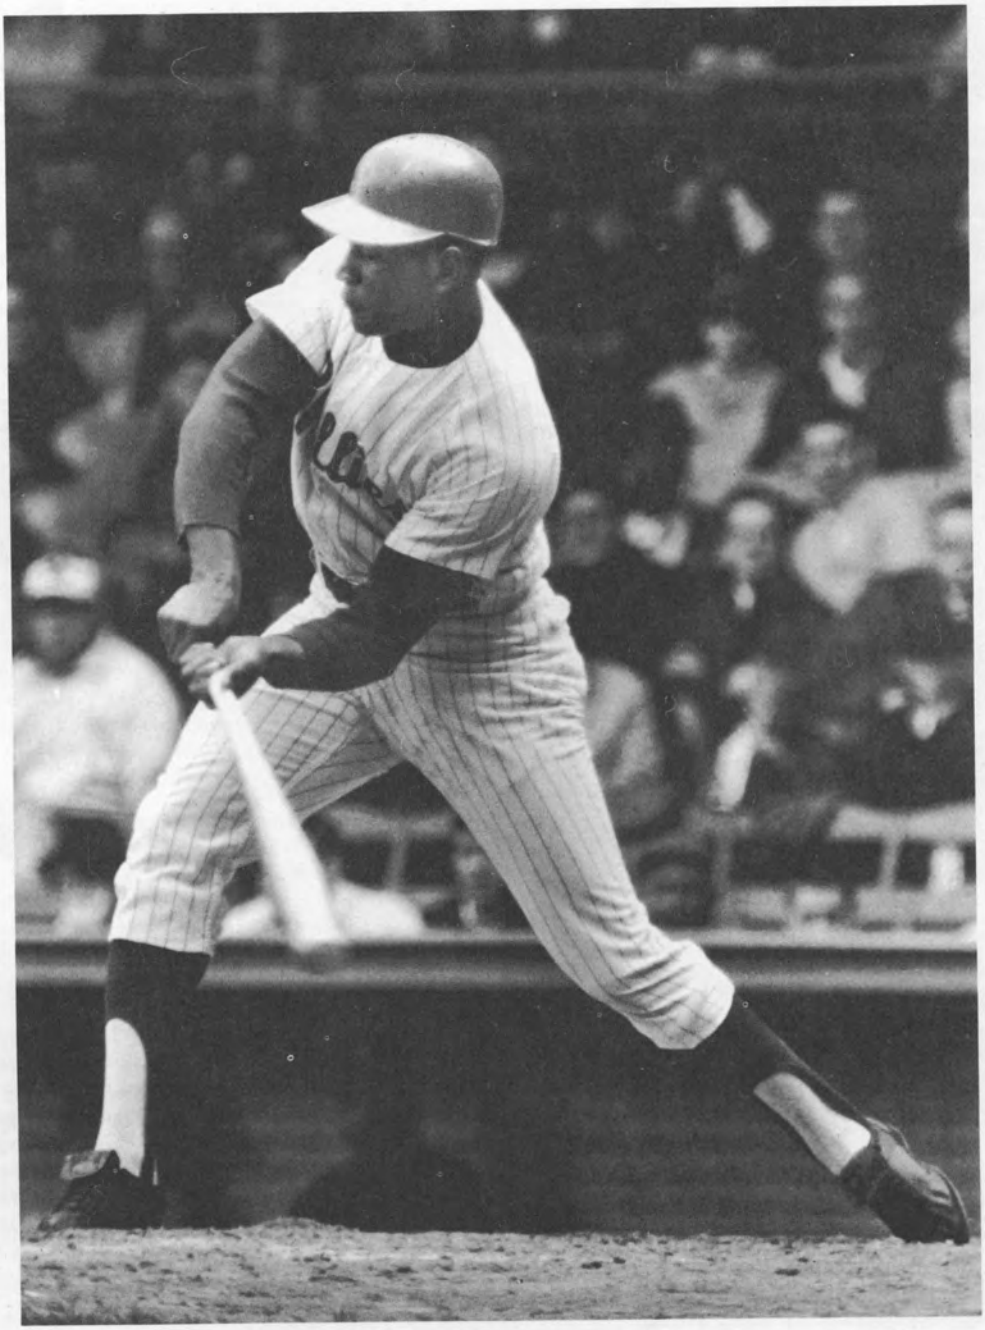
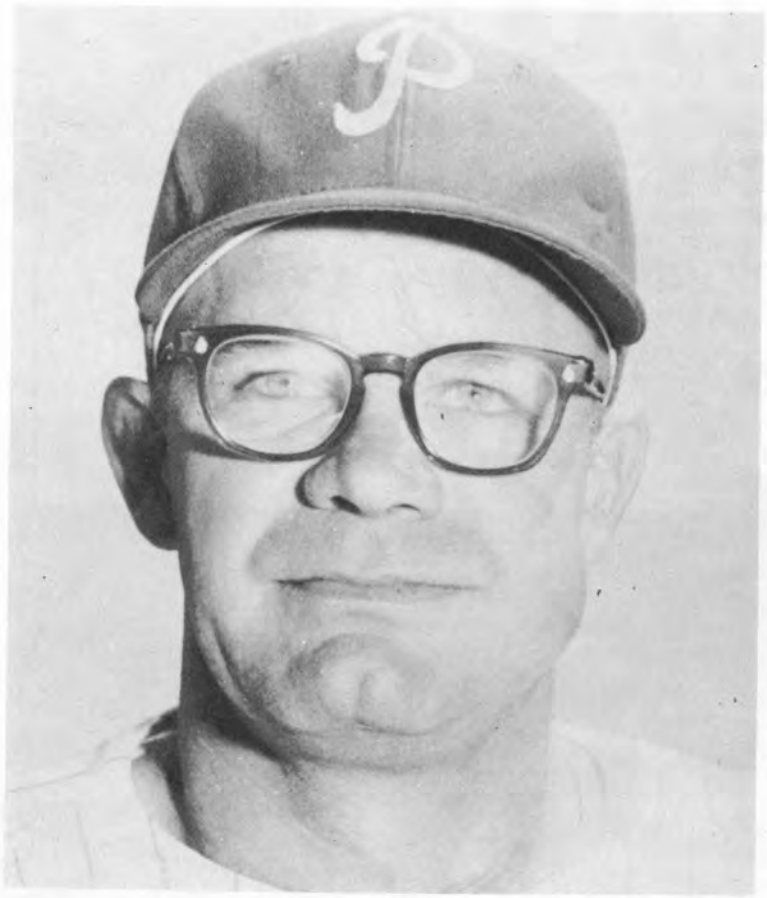
A familiar face in Mgr. Mauch's rotating lineups, John showed great left-handed power, a strong, accurate throwing arm and exceptionally good speed on the base paths throughout the '65 season. At Cincinnati on July 17, his late (but welcome) Independence Day celebration (5 R.B.I.'s) sparked the Phillies to a 14-7 win over the Reds. Mighty capable as a pinch hitter, too, John led the Phillies in this department last year. And who can forget his dramatic, 10th inning pinch double off Billy Pierce to give the Phillies a 4-3 win over the Giants on July 30, 1964.

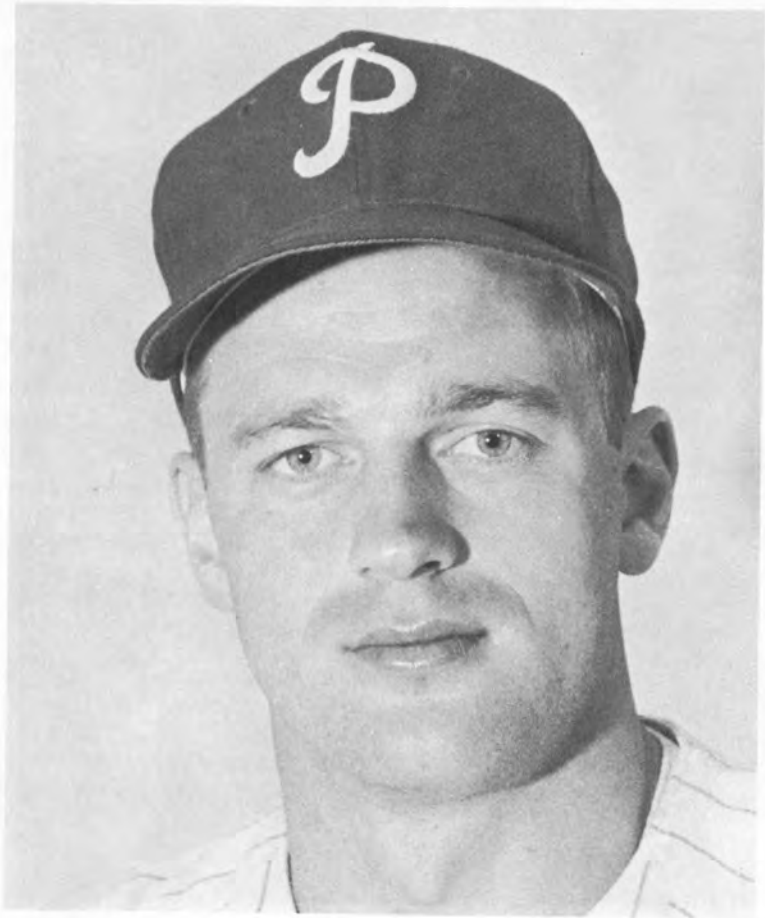
John Briggs





Harvey Kuenn

Harvey was purchased from the Cubs on April 22—in a move to add both reserve offensive and defensive strength to the Phillies lineup. Right at home at either first base or in the outfield, this powerful 6-footer is now in his 16th active year in the majors (8 with Detroit, 1 with Cleveland, 5 with San Francisco and 1 with the Cubs, prior to joining the Phillies). A 6-time All-Star in the A.L., Harvey's lifetime batting average stands at a mighty formidable .303. This fact, coupled with that big Kuenn glove, should prove to be mighty handy 2-way insurance, as the dust of the pennant race rises.



Doug Clemens

Highly regarded by the Phillies as a promising, young outfielder, Doug joined the Mauchmen after a mid-winter trade with the Cubs. A graduate of Syracuse University (B.S. in Phys. Ed.), where he played varsity ball, Doug broke into the majors in 1962, with the St. Louis Cardinals—after pounding the pellet at better than .300 for both Tulsa (.342) and Charleston (.310) during the 1961 season.

PAUL OWENS
Farm Director

"To be a consistent pennant contender, a club must have a strong, productive farm system—with good scouting as its backbone and young ballplayers as its muscle." JOHN J. QUINN

ROSS MILLER
Exec. Secy.

The Phillies Farm System consists of five minor league teams, ranging from AAA to A classifications, and two rookie clubs composed of players with limited experience in professional baseball.

All Phillies minor-leaguers have been singled out by eagle-eyed Phillies scouts, from coast to coast, not only for their baseball ability, but also for their character and disposition. Once these ballplayers have joined their respective clubs, their development program begins—hopefully carrying them to a bright major league career with the Phillies.

The 1966 Phillies roster boasts of many players who are direct products of Phillies Farm development. Rich Allen, Chris Short, John Briggs, Ray Culp, Bobby Wine and Rick Wise—all expected to add plenty of game-winning muscle to the '66 pennant drive. "Down on the farm", Gary Wagner, Barry Lersch, Larry Colton, Gary Schlieve, Billy Champion, Butch Rounsaville, Lowell Palmer, Gil Torres, Gary Sutherland and Steve Kolinsky are all preparing for future Phillies efforts.

Top-flight talent is mighty prevalent on the administrative level of the Phillies Farm System, too. Last year, the Phillies named Paul Owens to the post of Phillies Farm Director. A phys-ed grad from St. Bonaventure, where he played both baseball and basketball, Owens broke into professional baseball with the St. Louis Cardinal organization in 1951. In 1954, he managed the Olean Club, in the Pennsylvania-Ontario-New York League . . . piloting the team, then a Phillies affiliate, through 1957. In 1958, the reins of the Phillies Bakersfield club were his. Owens managed Bakersfield again in 1959, before being tapped to assume Phillies scouting responsibilities in the Southern California-Arizona-New Mexico territory. Also recognized for his superior teaching ability, Paul served as an instructor in Phillies rookie camps from 1956 to 1959. From 1962 through 1965, he was camp co-ordinator for the Phillies Class AA and A minor league training camp at Leesburg, Florida.

GENE MARTIN
Player
Personnel Advisor

Sharing farm system responsibilities with Owens, are Gene Martin, Phillies Player Personnel Advisor, Ross Miller, Executive Secretary of the Phillies Farm System and "five of the finest baseball managers, anywhere."

JOSEPH LISCIO, Club Trainer

A veteran physical conditioner and an accredited physiotherapist, Joe is now in his fourth year as Phillies Trainer. His background includes training duties with the Chicago Cubs, Los Angeles Dodgers, and the Army Air Force. During the off-season, Joe resides in Rolling Hills, California.

JAMES M. WALKER, M.D., Club Physician

Now in his second year as Phillies Team Physician, Dr. Walker is 36 and a native Philadelphian. A graduate of LaSalle College and the Jefferson Medical School, he spent 3 years as team physician at West Catholic High School, before taking over the Phillies medical reins.

APRIL 13

Phillies win opener at St. Louis. Newcomer Roger Craig relieves in 10th. Phils win in 12—3-2.

APRIL 15

Home opener. Phils drop Cincinnati 4-3. Craig undefeated in 3 appearances. 2 runs in 9th take game from Cincinnati. Brigg's single the crushing blow.

APRIL 21

Phillies-Cubs swap Jackson and Buhl for Jenkins, Herrnstein and Phillips.

APRIL 25

Bunning wins first—a 5-0 shutout over Bob Veale and the Pirates. Bunning's 29th lifetime shutout. Allen clouts 3rd 4-bagger of the season.

APRIL 29

After 3 idle days, Bunning comes back to win 2nd consecutive game—5-1, over Chicago. Uecker clouts first homer in a Phillies uniform. Allen injured.

APRIL 30

7-run 5th inning propels Phils to 12-0 rout of the Cubs. Short allows only 3 hits. Taylor, Uecker homer. Phillies in 2nd place.

MAY 4

Short wins 2nd straight. Stops power-laden Braves on 2-hitter. Final score: Phils 2-Braves 0. Gonzalez clouts 1st homer; robs Woody Woodward of 4-bagger.

MAY 6

Fireworks at Connie Mack Stadium—Phils explode for 5 in the last of the 11th to thump Pirates 8-7. Groat's 2-run, 2-out single wins it.

MAY 7

Taylor pushes hitting streak to 10 straight. Briggs socks 3rd homer; Gonzalez, his 2nd. Bunning stops Pirates 7-3.

MAY 10

Reliever Terry Fox purchased from the Detroit Tigers.

MAY 12

Bunning k.o.'s Drysdale, goes 3-3 with 2 runs scored. Phillies drop Dodgers 5-1. Knowles pitches 3 perfect relief innings.

MAY 15

Larry Jackson posts first Phillies win, stopping Astros 5-2.

MAY 17

Culp wins first for '66. Phils rally for 4 runs to down Cardinals 4-3. Bill White drives in 3 with homer and single. Dick Groat gets 2000th major league hit. Phils in 4th place.

MAY 20

Phillies rally for 4 in the 7th inning to tie Astros . . . win in 10th, 6-5. Rojas drives in Kuenn with winning tally. Rookie Knowles collects 4th win.

MAY 22

Bunning hikes record to 5-1 with 5th straight win, 6-1, at Astrodome.

MAY 23

Dome crowd witnesses Larry Jackson's 27th lifetime shutout—a 3-hitter. Phillies win 3-0. Clemens clouts first homer with Phillies. Phils sweep series, move back to 4th place.

MAY 27

Allen returns to starting lineup, plays LF. Phils whip Giants 9-2. Larry Jackson posts 2nd straight victory—3rd of the season.

MAY 28

Ray Culp and Darold Knowles combine to shutout Giants 2-0.

MAY 30

Phillies split Memorial Day D.H. with Mets. Bunning wins 6th straight in opener, 7-2. Homers by Allen, White, Uecker and Callison prove more than enough.

MAY 31

Phillies trounce Mets 6-4. Herbert throws 6.1 scoreless relief innings.

JUNE 1

Phillies take 2 in twi-nighter at Connie Mack Stadium. Fox wins opener 4-3 for 1st win. Knowles saves. Taylor drives in winning run. In 2nd game, Buhl goes 5 innings in relief—allowing 0 runs, only 3 hits. Phils give Buhl first win, 7-4. Allen rockets ball over 447 ft. mark in dead center.

JUNE 2

Knowles wins 5th, Phillies stop Cubs 5-4. Another homer for Allen—this time, inside the park.

JUNE 3

Bunning wins 7th straight, 6-1 over San Francisco. Allen blasts 3rd homer in just as many days. Uecker and Rojas join Allen in round-trip department.

JUNE 4

36,494 pack Connie Mack Stadium to watch Chris Short and the Phillies end Marichal's win string at 10. Final score: Phils 6—Giants 1. White clouts homer, collects 4 R.B.I.'s and steals 2 bases.

JUNE 6

Rick Wise, in his 2nd start since being recalled from San Diego, stops San Francisco 6-2—for his first complete game in the majors. Allen and Taylor homer—#8 and #3, respectively.

JUNE 7

Bunning rolls to 8th straight win—a 3-hitter, with 14 S.O. (his N.L. high) for good measure. Phils dump Cincinnati 5-1. Rojas belts 2nd homer.

JUNE 8

Phillies outslug Cincinnati, 10-6. Short rolls-up 6th win. Rojas runs hitting streak to 11 straight. Gonzalez, Allen and Dalrymple collect homers. Phils tied with Pirates for 3rd place—winning 12 of the last 15 games.

JUNE 12

Short wins 7th (his 6th straight over the Cardinals), 5-3. White slams 10th homer.

JUNE 13

Phillies sweep D.H. from Braves. Jackson returns to win opener, 6-2. Dalrymple collects 3 R.B.I.'s off single and 3rd homer. In 2nd game, Buhl wins, 6-4, as Jackie Brandt breaks out for a triple plus a home run. Terry Fox gets his first save, and Phil Linz, filling in at 3b, hits in his 4th straight game.

BENNY BENGOUGH

In the press box or on the street, Benny is one of baseball's most personable (and jovial) representatives. A Phillies Coach for 14 seasons, Benny's active big league experience dates back to the "Roaring '20's," when he was a catcher for the World Champion Yankees. (In 1928, he set a series record for most putouts by a catcher—33 in a four-game series.) Today, Benny's deep love and understanding of the game continue to serve him well, in his invaluable efforts as Phillies "Ambassador-at-Large."

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE PHILLIES

The first National League game ever played pitted the Philadelphia Athletics against Boston, on Saturday, April 22, 1876, at 25th and Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia. Boston won by a score of 6-5.

Beset by financial troubles, the Athletics folded toward the end of the season, leaving the N.L. without a Philadelphia club until 1883. That year, Alfred J. Reach purchased the Worcester, Mass., franchise . . . moved it to Billy Penn's town and named the team the "Phillies." (To most historians, Phillies history begins right here.)

The new Phillies first took on the National League on May 1, 1883. Their "stadium"—Recreation Park, 24th St. and Ridge Ave.—became the scene of many hotly contested battles, and the home of many brilliant and colorful ballplayers. Men like Charlie Ferguson, who, in 1886, became the first pitcher in baseball history to win two games in one day.

In 1887, the Phillies moved into a "magnificent park" at Broad and Huntingdon Sts., which later became known as "Baker Bowl."

It was on this diamond that outfielder Billy Hamilton gave the Phillies their first batting champion—.338 in 1891. Eight years later, it was Ed Delahanty whose .408 B.A. took top honors.

In 1915, Baker Bowl became the site of the World Series, as a powerful Phillies ballclub took their first pennant. Fred Luderus, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dode Paskert, Eppa Rixey, Gravvy Cravath and Davey Bancroft—all heroes—under the guidance of Manager Pat Moran. The Boston Red Sox, however, won the Series, 4 games to 1.

In 1916, and again in 1917, the Phillies finished in 2nd place. But in 1918, they fell into the cavernous depths of the second division. There they stayed for many, many years, despite such greats as Cy Williams, Dick Bartell, Chuck Klein—mightiest home run hitter in the club's history, Lefty O'Doul, Pinky Whitney, Curt and Spud Davis, "Fidgety" Phil Collins, Bucky Walters, Dolph Camilli, Claude Passeau. And so on, down to the Whiz Kids.

Following a game with the Giants, on June 30, 1938, the Phillies bid farewell to Baker Bowl and headed for Shibe Park—where they played their first game on July 4.

In 1943, 28-year-old Bob Carpenter took the reins of the cellar-entrenched Phillies. He had big plans for the club, but the initial stages had to be carried out by the late Robert R. M. Carpenter, Sr. and the late Herbert J. Pennock, when Bob went into the Army, missing both the '44 and '45 seasons.

By 1946, the Phillies had risen to 5th place—their highest position in 14 seasons—and, for the first time in the history of the organization, a productive farm system came into being.

The payoff came just 4 years later, when the Phillies won the pennant, sparked by such young ballplayers as Richie Ashburn, Del Ennis, Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Granny Hamner, Eddie Waitkus, Bubba Church, Willie "Puddin'head" Jones, Jim Konstanty, Bill Nicholson, Andy Seminick, Mike Goliat and Bob Miller. But the Series again eluded the club, as Eddie Sawyer's charges bowed to the Yankees, 4-0.

Through the years that followed, Phillies fans saw Shibe Park become Connie Mack Stadium, in honor of the late Connie Mack—one of baseball's immortal figures. Fans also saw first division joys as well as last place woes.

But, in 1960, another renaissance began . . . as the Phillies, under Manager Gene Mauch, began the upward sweep to an anti-climactic 2nd place finish in 1964.

Last year, the Phillies finished 6th, but the coals still burn brightly—setting the stage for the '66 season . . . and another shot at the flag.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

Between 1911-1917, this brilliant right-hander was a 3-time, 30-game winner . . . notching 8 still-standing Phillies records.

EPPA RIXEY

In 1916, this southpaw racked up 22 wins and an E.R.A. of 1.85. These marks still stand.

JIM KONSTANTY

"Fireman" Jim set the Phillies career mark for appearances by a right-hander in 1950—74.

CURT SIMMONS

From 1947-1960, Curt tossed 18 shutouts, had 1051 S.O., and won 115 games—all Phillies career records.

ROBIN ROBERTS

A 6-time 20-game winner, Robbie holds the most career wins and most career strikeouts for a Phillies right-hander.

THE MODERN STADIUM—PRIDE OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

Keeping pace with the National League's progressive building program is no small chore. In recent years, no less than six new stadia have appeared—all of which reflect the last word in design and convenience. Pictured below are The Astrodome, Atlanta Stadium, Busch Memorial Stadium (ready by mid-season) and Shea Stadium. Dodger Stadium and Candlestick Park are the two other ultra-modern facilities the Phillies visit when they're on the road.

SHEA STADIUM—FLUSHING, N.Y.

BUSCH MEMORIAL STADIUM—ST. LOUIS, MO.

ATLANTA STADIUM—ATLANTA, GA.

THE ASTRODOME—HOUSTON, TEX.

NATIONAL LEAGUE STARS

Here are just a few of the exciting National League stars who will be visiting Connie Mack Stadium throughout the 1966 season . . .
